Please send me copies of the following Greater Wellington publications

- A beginner's guide to wetland restoration
20 pages. This booklet describes what a wetland is, why wetlands are important, and the general steps to follow to restore a wetland. It also includes contacts for further information on wetland restoration.
- Restoration planting: a guide to planning restoration planting projects in the Wellington region
36 pages. This guide is for individuals and groups who are bringing back bush and extending natural bush areas by planting native plants. It describes how to successfully plant native vegetation in the Wellington region.
- Mind the stream, a guide to looking after urban and rural streams in the Wellington region
32 pages. This booklet describes why and how to look after stream margins so that the stream and the wider environment, including people, will benefit. Includes pictures and descriptions of some hardy plants to use on streamsides.
- So you are thinking about a pond...
8 pages. A guide to the design, management and consent requirements for landowners thinking about constructing ponds.
- Managing your bush block
54 pages. This booklet is aimed at individuals and groups looking after native bush remnants. It provides practical examples of techniques to manage and enhance remnants and includes useful case studies from the Wellington region.
- I am interested in receiving further information from Greater Wellington on these topics.
